

How would you like YOUR story published on the TSSUS blog during February Turner Syndrome Awareness Month? We'll publish 1-3 stories each day in the month of February and we need your participation to raise TS awareness.

Here are some FAQs we get about the My TS Story program:

Who can submit a story?

- People with TS
- Parents / Grandparents / Guardians of adults /children with TS
- Parents can "interview" their young child with TS and submit it
- Siblings, significant others of someone with TS

What should my story include?

Make sure you write at least 2-3 paragraphs that go beyond your age and date of diagnosis. We get a lot of submissions that are simply one or two sentences. Please tell us more! Tell us more than just answering these suggested questions.

- Who are you?
- What are some of the things you enjoy?
- What are you most proud of?
- Who has inspired and helped you along the way?
- What is your favorite book or movie and why?
- What challenges have you overcome and how?
- A photo

What advice would you give your younger self?

- Be sure to include a couple of photographs (no filters).
- Be sure to fill in all the blanks on the form including address and phone number. Submissions without this information can't be used. *we don't share/publish your info - just your name.

Help us spread awareness by Sharing Your Story! No one can better talk about TS than those who have it and the people who love them! If you have previously submitted your story, feel free to submit it again with updates! Submit your story and your photo here: <https://www.turnersyndrome.org/share-your-story>
